

Hope Star

VOLUME 38—NUMBER 50

(AP)—Means Associated Press
(NEA)—Means Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n

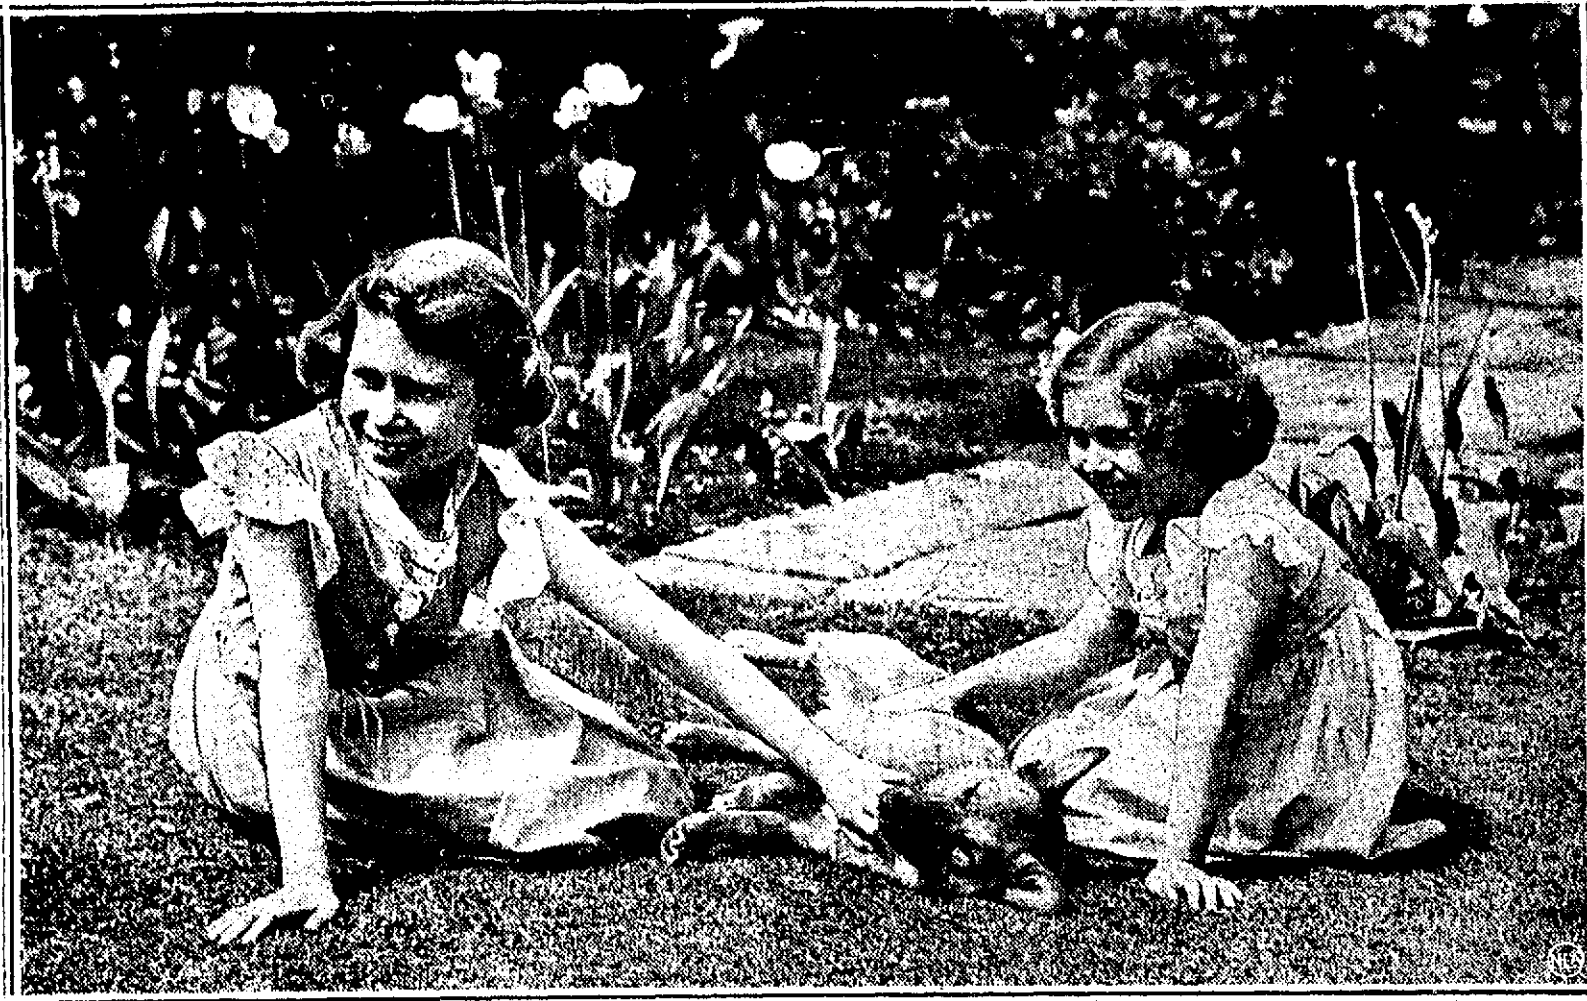

HOPE, ARKANSAS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1936

Star of Hope 1935; Press, 1937.
Consolidated January 15, 1929.

PRICE 5c COPY

EDWARD ABDICATES THRONE!

Exclusive Photos of New King, George Sixth, and Family

—Photo from Studio Lisa; Copyright 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Merry children playing in the garden of their home completely unconcerned with the momentous future the Fates were dishing out of the tangled skein of King Edward's romance, are laughing Princesses Elizabeth (left) and Margaret Rose, daughters of the Duke of York, shown in a near, exclusive picture. Rigorous training for queenship is the lot of little Elizabeth, for, with her father king, she is next in line to succeed the throne.

—Photo from Studio Lisa; Copyright 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

The turn of events in the exciting days that have overwhelmed this happy family group has swept them into Buckingham Palace and the responsibilities of being THE Royal Family of Great Britain. New and Exclusive, this picture reveals the Duke of York, now King George Sixth, his Duchess and daughters, Margaret Rose and Elizabeth, enjoying the companionship of their dogs at Windsor Great Park.

Gift Campaign for Christmas Is to Be Planned on Friday

Pastors, Civic Heads, Others, to Meet at City Hall at 10 a. m.

GOODFELLOWS PLAN

Dewey Hendrix Heads Fund Drive—Rev. F. R. Harrison the Pastors

Plans for the annual Christmas distribution to Hope's needy families by the city's churches and the Goodfellows organization will be made at a meeting in the city hall at 10 o'clock Friday.

(Continued on page three)

Turned Brown By Brown Turner

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—One thing about this King-Simpson business is its sent a lot of us scurrying for books to study up on English history. Its the biggest story that's broken for the newspapers since Maine and Vermont sided with Al Smith, but it looks like us subscribers will have to get a writ of habeas corpus if we ever chase them off the front page.

When we read where flocks of airplanes fly over Madrid and drop tons of concentrated death we wonder why Uncle Sam don't make a deal for a few more planes instead of sitting on the sidelines watching Japan and Russia take the overproduction in this country.

Stags that have shed their antlers fight with horns and teeth.

New British King in Big-Gun Turret at Jutland Battle

Duke of York, Now King George Sixth, in Thick of Fighting

WAS GRAVELLY ILL

Ulcer Threatened His Life, But Operation Cured Him in 1917

By MILTON BRONNER
Nea Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON—The future Duke of York—a slim, green young sprig of the house of Windsor—on May 31, 1916, got

(Continued on page three)

Mrs. Simpson Americanizes the King's Habits, Food and Dress--Even Accent!

She Exercises a Profound Influence

By MILTON BRONNER
Nea Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

LONDON—What is the hold that Wallis Warfield Simpson has on King Edward VIII of England? Do beauty, wit, personality, sympathy—one or all of them—hold His Majesty enthralled? How strong is the influence which she wields?

Now at last the questions are being asked across the teacups in Mayfair, over the beer mugs at the pubs, by loiterers in Piccadilly Square, and by the cabinet members who face each other and a crisis across a dignified table.

The gossip of Bryanston Square, where Mrs. Simpson and her former husband, Ernest Simpson, had a flat, says that the woman from Baltimore has had a profound influence on the monarch's taste in food and drink. In the old days, when, as Prince of Wales, he went to his favorite dancing spot, the Embassy Club, he would have a table in some quiet corner and would take an active part in the dancing. But he drank brandy pretty steadily. Mrs. Simpson, who does not care for any alcoholic beverages particularly, has, they say, been instrumental in cutting down the King's brandy consumption.

Turns American
Take the matter of food, too. Mrs. Simpson has had an effect on the king's appetite. She has introduced him to a list of American dishes that he now welcomes on the festal board. Like so many southern women, the King's favorite companion is said to be an expert with a chafing dish. She can put a frying pan on the stove and scramble eggs, fry bacon, or whip up an omelette. Back in Baltimore, when her family's exchequer reached the state where it couldn't pay for a cook, she became accustomed to kitchen rites. Oddly enough, two of the King's favorite American dishes, prepared by Mrs. Simpson, have appropriate names: Chicken a la King and Chicken a la Maryland.

Even the King's English has felt the American influence. "Route" is pronounced constantly in England as if it were spelled "root." The king recently pronounced it to rhyme with "out," as do Americans. Even more marked is his pronunciation of "progress." Like the rest of his race, all his life long he has said "pro-gress," the "pro" rhyming with "oh." Now he says "prog-ress," the "prog" having

Together They Face the Storm

Mrs. Wallis Simpson and King Edward VIII are shown side-by-side, as he would have them, in this realistic composite picture.

the short "o" as in "fog."

Jazz Is Favorite Music
The American jazz spirit is influencing His Majesty's musical requests. This was manifested as early as last summer when the King had Mrs. Simpson and a number of other men and women as his guests at Balmoral Castle in Scotland. The Balmoral Pipers were asked to do something that seemed almost sacrilege to good Scots—they were asked to try their hand at playing jazz. Now, from time immemorial, the bag-pipes have been attuned to martial Scotch songs or to wailing laments like "Flowers of the Field." The attempt at jazz was not much of a success.

The musicians did not want to break with tradition. However, when asked about a bag-pipe tune which the king himself composed, called "Majorca," one of them answered: "Ah, weel, when Majesty takes a bit here and a bitlock there and splices them, do ye mind? Folks say he has composed something. But it's no a great work." The King formerly had a habit of pulling at his necktie. When he grew nervous or tired particularly, he would reach for the tie and twitch it. Now, under Mrs. Simpson's influence, he has stopped this gesture. Habits are hard to break, so the British populace agree that the King is aiming very hard to please.

Dining Informally
Even in the manner of social customs, Mrs. Simpson's influence is felt. Last summer two American friends of hers, guests at Belvedere for a day or two, arrived in their smartest traveling

The King Aims to Please Lady

costumes, with full evening dress carefully packed in their bags and no other attire at all. Mrs. Simpson and the King greeted them from the garden, where, dressed in comfortable outdoor clothes, old and not any too well pressed, they were digging in the garden.

Never mind about dressing for dinner," their hostess told them. "David and I won't go to."

The King didn't either. He reportedly likes the new American informality.

Edward VIII has been troubled with some catarrh in one ear. Whenever he goes to his doctor's office—which he does so the medical men won't have to bring his special instruments to the palace—Mrs. Simpson accompanies him. Proof, again, the people say, that he wants her by his side.

Charms as Hostess

There is a vivid charm, coupled with a genuine spirit of friendliness, sympathy and democracy, which draw people to Mrs. Simpson, those who know her in England and America say. Any man or woman, from the King to the cobbler or chambermaid, feels her charm. Furthermore, she's a gracious hostess who continually plans surprises for her guests.

For instance, the American favorite of Edward VIII has a dinner table whose top is made of black glass. Electric lighting from beneath illuminates the dining room. As the meal progresses, lights gradually grow softer until, when the coffee and liqueurs are served, the guests sit in a dim half-light, which is becoming to the women whose sparkling jewels are given a

Deserts Greatest Empire on Earth to Wed for Love

Will Marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson and May Move to the United States

YORK IS NEW KING

Albert Frederick Arthur George Succeeds as King George Sixth

LONDON, Eng.—(P)—King Edward the Eighth of England abdicated his ancient and mighty throne Thursday.

He will marry Wallis Warfield Simpson as a man, not a monarch.

Albert Frederick Arthur George, tall, 40, Duke of York, will rule over the 495 million subjects of the greatest empire on earth. He will reign is George the Sixth.

In a message from His Majesty the King signed by his own hand, "sombre Stanley Baldwin, the kingdom's First Minister, announced the abdication to a House of Commons in which tension and hysteria were breathing, living things.

Around the globe, through sundown and dawn, to those who bear allegiance to England's king, flashed this message from their sovereign:

"After long and anxious consideration I have determined to renounce the throne to which I succeeded on the death of my father, and I now am communicating this, my final, irrevocable decision."

Rather than give up the twice-divorced woman who waited Thursday within the rain-splashed walls of a villa on Cote d'Azur, France, balked by the state and the church in his desire for a morganatic marriage, Edward the Eighth signed Thursday morning the decree of abdication.

York, his heir, and his other two brothers, the Dukes of Gloucester and of Kent, witnessed the historic deed.

The abdication was first made public in an official announcement in the House of Commons by Captain Edward Alington Fitzroy, speaker of the house.

To Leave England

LONDON, Eng.—(P)—Reports received by the Exchange Telegraph Agency said Thursday that Edward intends to leave the country, probably Friday night.

There was no indication where he would meet Mrs. Simpson or when

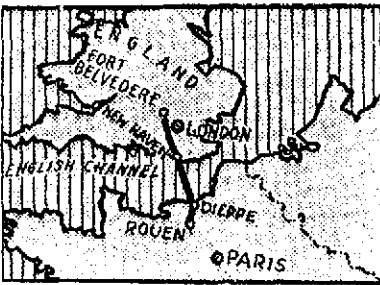

(Continued on page three)

King Edward VIII

HERE, in his favorite portrait, is Great Britain's abdicated monarch, King Edward VIII, who renounced the burden of sovereignty over one-fourth of the world's people that fell on him with the death of his father, King George V. As sportsman and world traveler, the former Prince of Wales often was pictured, in informal snapshots. This picture was made on one of the few occasions when he consented to pose for a formal portrait.

—Studio portrait by Foulsham & Banfield, Ltd., Old Bond St., London. Copyright in United States and Canada by Acme Newspictures, Inc.

Leaving England to clear the scene for the portentous events attending the break between King Edward and the government, Mrs. Wallis Simpson took the route indicated on the above map by the heavy black line.

(Continued on page three)

A THOUGHT

Never think that God's delays are God's denials. True prayer always receives what it asks, or something better.—Tryon Edwards.

Hope Star

O Justice, Deliver Thy Herald From False Report!
Published every week-day afternoon by Star Publishing Co., Inc.
C. E. Palmer & Alex. H. Washburn, at The Star Building, 212-214 South Walnut street, Hope, Arkansas.

C. E. PALMER, President
ALEX. H. WASHBURN, Editor and Publisher
Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Hope, Arkansas Under the Act of March 3, 1897.

Definition: "The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, through widely circulated advertisements, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Col. R. S. McCormick.

Subscription Rate (Always Payable in Advance): By city carrier, per week 15c; per month $6.00; one year $65.00. By mail, in Hempstead, Nevada, Howard, Miller and Lafayette counties, $3.50 per year; elsewhere $6.50.

Member of The Associated Press: The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

National Advertising Representatives: Arkansas Dailies, Inc., Memphis, Tenn., Sterick Bldg.; New York City, 369 Lexington; Chicago, Ill., 75 E. Wacker Drive; Detroit, Mich., 336 Woodward Ave.; St. Louis, Mo., Star Bldg.

Charges on Tributes, Etc.: Charges will be made for all tributes, cards of thanks, resolution, or memorials, concerning the departed. Commercial newspapers hold to this policy in the news columns to protect their readers from a deluge of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the safe-keeping or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

The Family Doctor

Little Tumors in Nose May Cause Infection; Should Be Removed

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygieia, the Health Magazine.

The lining of the nose, like that of any other part of the body, may be subjected to some of the changes in tissue which cause disturbances.

Sometimes the little cells which form the mucous membrane of the nose will overgrow. When they do, little tumors are formed which hang down into the nose and interfere with breathing.

Because they obstruct the flow of materials from the nose they may aid in setting up infection. It is therefore, desirable that such little tumors be removed.

Sometimes the blood vessels in the nose will form in little knots exactly as they do within the skin. Or a blood vessel in the nose occasionally may become dilated and varicose. Any physical disturbance of this kind will result in symptoms, and, as a result, the growth, or disordered structure, will have to be removed.

It is, of course, possible for a growth in the nose, like one elsewhere in the body, finally to become malignant and body, finally to become malignant and that it destroys the tissue around it.

This is the nature of cancer. The chief symptom, whenever there is obstruction of any kind in the nose, is the secondary infection. Eventually such infection becomes purulent and offensive.

If it involves the blood vessels, there may also be bleeding. The glands of the body help to remove infectious material, so that whenever such infection or obstruction is present, nearby glands become enlarged.

The causes of growths and tumors of various kinds are not definitely known, but some contributory factors are recognized. Some authorities are convinced that polyps never occur except when there is infection.

It is not possible for the average person to diagnose the presence of nasal polyps for himself. The doctor examines the interior of the nose by looking into the nasal cavity. He will stretch the nostrils and, by means of a special light, be able to view the most minute changes in membranes.

Polyps and tumors are sometimes removed by surgery, by use of caustic substances, or by use of radium. Each of these methods requires the services of an expert equipped with necessary apparatus and materials.

Sometimes a new crop of polyps forms after one crop has been removed. People in whom such polyps form continually will find that there is nothing to do but to keep on having them removed. In most instances, however, application of radium will prevent return.

There are instances on record in which the removal of a polyp or similar tumor has been followed by the disappearance of chronic infection in the nose; in other instances, by the disappearance of asthmatic symptoms or similar conditions.

As has already been mentioned, polyps will occasionally form in the sinuses as well as in the nose itself. Diagnosis and removal of the polyps from the sinuses obviously are more difficult than is removal from the nose.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Christmas Presents Ought to Blend Utility and Fun.

This is the last of three special articles by Olive Roberts Barton, child expert, discussing the Christmas problems of parents.

The whole idea of giving to children is exemplified, I think, in the new way the Ladies Aid now packs boxes for the poor.

For every useful gift, there is a toy. I would reverse this, for the average family can afford to make the holiday one of general indulgence. For every toy, include a useful gift. Or of not exactly that, at least buy a certain percentage of needed articles. But never, never would I make Christmas an excuse for buying utilities only.

Playthings make Christmas, for every child. And in buying these a few general rules should be heeded. For the tot of two, three or four, big articles are best, and particularly those that encourage exercise. Don't say that baby is too little to appreciate a doll-buggy. Maybe she is, as far as playing house is concerned; but for pushing and balancing and a lot of fun, she is exactly the right age for one. The wagon is excellent for Johnny whether he has all the other wheeled vehicles or not. He learns a lot of things from a wagon. And it should not be too heavy, or tire him out pulling it, but yet be big enough to make him work a bit.

Developing Manual Defenses
Blocks should be big. Balls, too. And soft animals for hugging about. Strange that for so many years we gave the toddlers all the "little things" and increased size with age. Now, it is four-year-old Johnny who begins to be interested in smaller things, and we are choosing our gifts accordingly. I don't mean that he can't have a bigger and better wagon, or larger books or a finer sled, but as he is learning to use his fingers, he will be interested in Tiddly-Winks, for instance, and in jack-straws and marbles.

Anything that lets him manipulate those little digits of his. He likes to spin tops, and to make things out of plastic clay.

He may take a shine to a small doll or little monkey, now, rather than to the enormous one of his babyhood. He still likes size and power in his mechanical toys, and his sled and scooter, and so on, but he must also have these smaller things to satisfy his growing ability to create. This is the age when sets of low furniture come in just right. He, or she, will fairly wear out the little table and chairs.

When Child Is Older
People have the idea that children do not appreciate useful presents. Well, they do, almost always. They adore the snow-suit Santa brought. The scarf on cap makes them doubly proud because it was in their stockings. Unless the child is surfeited with necessities, and this isn't likely, he will be thrilled by anything new. But he needs toys, as I said, just as much as he needs overalls. Better get the "bright" necessities for Christmas. They help to make a gay day.

The older child will tell you exactly what he wants. Please do not disregard this. He means what he says. And if it is within reach, get it. But I would not let him plan all his gifts.

By this time, he is ready to go in for amateur hobbies too. Maybe a camera will start him off on photography, or a stamp-album or a set of old coins, give him a new interest. Sports equipment may turn him into an athlete, to his betterment. But don't surround him with a potential future. Concede to desire. And give him some nonsense too. He is still a baby at heart. So is the girl. Make Christmas merry.

HOLLYWOOD

By Paul Harrison

Paradoxes Are Plentiful in Pictureland

HOLLYWOOD.—Paradox department: Janet Gaynor owns two automobiles, but can't drive. Jeannette MacDonald has a swimming pool and can't swim. Frances Langford has a tennis court, but never plays tennis.

For that matter, Fred Perry—tennis star turned actor—has just bought a no court at all. Charles Ruggles owns new home in Beverly Hills, but it has more dogs than anybody else in Hollywood, yet he never goes hunting. Stanley Laurel owns a yacht, but doesn't know how to operate it. Victor McLuglen has a private army—mounted men, nurses, signal corps, and an air patrol—but nobody to fight.

London Fog

A funny town, Hollywood. Incidentally, only three of the major studios actually are located in Hollywood. The rest are in North Hollywood, Burbank, and Culver City.

It's a town where the restaurants use only dollar signs and capital letters in their alphabet soup. And where producers and agents are served pencils and scratch pads to keep them from figuring all over the tablecloths.

It's full of well-to-do cosmopolitans; yet its restaurants, by and large, are the worst of any city I've ever visited. And, in spite of a considerable show of wealth, there's scarcely a person who owns any distinguished painting or piece of sculpture.

Take No Chances
W. S. Van Dyke, the most traveled of directors, doesn't like to travel. Clark Gable has owned a race horse for three years, but never has placed a bet on it. (And very wise he was, too.)

Kay Francis owns some of the finest jewels in town, but never wears any of them off the screen. Sonja Henie collects cigarette holders, but doesn't smoke. Bob Burns collects expensive pipes, but smokes only cigars and an old cornucop.

Cary Grant buys at least a dozen hats each year, but goes bareheaded. Warner Baxter keeps a chauffeur, but doesn't drive himself. Although Alan Dinehart doesn't like oranges, he owns a thriving 10-acre grove. Warner Oland doesn't care for racovads, either, but he raises them.

Just in Time
William Powell is one of the best-dressed actors, with a wardrobe second in size only to Adolphe Menjou's. Yet Powell has no valet. There's a legend in the colony that Powell once fell in front of a steam roller. The things were practically upon him, and he seemed doomed. But he did have time enough to turn sideways so that the roller wouldn't take the crease out of his pants.

Glenda Farrell, one of the best-dressed women on the screen, actually hates to dress up, and goes around in tacky slacks most of the time. June Travis can't read a baseball box score, but she's the daughter of the vice president of the Chicago White Sox.

Robert Benchley, whose movie specialty is hilarious short subjects, reads the dreariest books. And when Groucho

McDougall regretting the subject, bent over his sketch, abandoning for the time his frequent appraising glances at his model.

"For instance," Dorothy continued, "there's a girl in town whom, to be frank, I never appreciated until recently. She was rather the victim of gossip by persons who considered themselves affected, and even of others who had no real interest at all."

Marcelia, of course. Wherever he turned, there was a reflection of Marcelia.

"That's a bad start," he said harshly. "Let's begin again and get it right."

He had found on the drawing block, in the outline of Dorothy Osborn's face, the eyes of Marcelia Canfield.

BY ROBERT DICKSON
© 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

HALF-ACRE in EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MARCELA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, met BRUCE McDUGALL, artist, shortly after the mysterious disappearance of FRANK KENDRICK, to whom Marcelia had been engaged. When shortages are found in Kendrick's business accounts, Marcelia is more shocked than heartbroken. She realizes she never loved him with him.

McDougall is attentive until DOROTHY OSBORN, who dislikes Marcelia, leads him to believe Marcelia is engaged to another man.

There is a bank holdup and police commander the Canfield car to follow the bandits. The car is wrecked and both Marcelia and her father are injured. McDougall, driving with Dorothy, arrives on the scene and takes Marcelia and her father to the hospital.

Their injuries are slight. Although Marcelia's arm is in a sling, she takes part in an amateur play a short time afterward. A New York producer attends the performance and offers Dorothy a part in his new production.

Marcelia gives a party for Dorothy, Joan and Helen. JOAN and HELEN WADDELL, close friends of Marcelia's, overhear a conversation discussing Marcelia's engagement to Kendrick.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVI
HELEN said with cold anger, "Let's get out of here."

Obediently McDougall rose and followed her into the hall, out of hearing of the two in the room beyond the library. Through the archway ahead they could see the dancers, the groups of talkers around the walls. Midway down the hall Helen paused.

"You'll wonder what it's all about," she said.

McDougall gave his best imitation of a man who does not require to be told a thing.

"It's just a matter of petty, local gossip," said Helen. "I'm not suggesting you want to be in on it; but I ought to explain why it made me so angry."

"That's Mrs. Charles Horton whom Mike is talking with back there. She can't let up over something that happened here some months ago. There was a sequel to the thing that happened, and as far as I can see it concerned Marcelia alone."

IT was all considerably mystifying, McDougall reflected as he walked toward Dorothy Osborn's house late on Monday afternoon. Dorothy was to sit for his sketch, and he was to stay for dinner—the dinner he had missed before. Dorothy had said without rancor. Dorothy was waiting for him—a cordial Dorothy, but he had never known her otherwise—he had never known it when it was unattractive. Mrs. Osborn, when he entered, came in to greet him and then retired to kitchen duties.

"I won't pretend," said Dorothy, "that I am anything but thrilled."

He had reddened slightly. "Or in spite of the same neighborly people being gossipy?" Dorothy pursued, with what inner prompting McDougall could not guess.

"You've been hearing things," she went on. "From this person about that person, and turn about. Well,—with a confidential honesty which he could not suspect,—there is gossip, of course. I don't know whether it's more or less than in the city, perhaps it is simply more apparent where there are fewer competing distractions. . . . I have known of some cruel things."

"Did you enjoy the party?" asked Dorothy.

"Very much."

"Something else nice happened to me there," she continued, "after you'd offered to do the sketch. I couldn't help telling a few people about that. . . . Do you know Ralph Hanson Jr.? He's a grand kid. Works all the time to help his family, and stands well in school besides. He does some really beautiful things in wood in his school shop class, and when he heard about the sketch—he was at the party, if you noticed, though not much in evidence—he asked me to ask you if he could make a frame for it, and if so, what kind. I thought it was awfully sweet of him."

McDUGALL smiled in appreciation.

"That was neighborly," he said, his attention mainly on a line that defied him. "That's something you get in small towns, in spite of . . ."

He broke off.

"In spite of what?" Asked Dorothy with amusement. "Our country ways?"

He had reddened slightly.

"Or in spite of the same neighborly people being gossipy?" Dorothy pursued, with what inner prompting McDougall could not guess.

"You've been hearing things," she went on. "From this person about that person, and turn about. Well,—with a confidential honesty which he could not suspect,—there is gossip, of course. I don't know whether it's more or less than in the city, perhaps it is simply more apparent where there are fewer competing distractions. . . . I have known of some cruel things."

McDUGALL smiled in appreciation.

"That was neighborly," he said, his attention mainly on a line that defied him. "That's something you get in small towns, in spite of . . ."

He broke off.

"In spite of what?" Asked Dorothy with amusement. "Our country ways?"

He had reddened slightly.

"Or in spite of the same neighborly people being gossipy?" Dorothy pursued, with what inner prompting McDougall could not guess.

(To Be Continued)

What You Should Know About NEW SOCIAL SECURITY LAW

17 Will a Worker Be Able to Learn, From Time to Time, the size of His Benefit Account?

THE worker will be able to learn, from time to time, exactly how much has been credited to his social security account. The Social Security Board will be able without inconvenience to furnish such information to the worker.

Because the Old-Age Benefits are calculated on the total amount of wages which the worker has received from covered employments, workers will no doubt keep records for themselves of their total yearly wages.

But whenever the worker is in doubt as to the exact size of his account, the Social Security Board is prepared to tell him.

NEXT: Can a person receive both Old-Age Benefits and public assistance for the aged?

Hudspeth Loses in U.S. Court, Appeals

Still Resisting 1-Year Sentence in Bank Case 4 Years Ago

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Federal Judge Martineau denied Thursday a petition for writ of habeas corpus through which A. T. Hudspeth, former northwestern Arkansas banker, sought to set aside a year's sentence in prison for the alleged acceptance of deposits in an insolvent bank four years ago.

Sam Rorex, Hudspeth's attorney, gave notice of appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Bath-Tub-Table-Stove
COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—Alfred Castanien, 82, felt the country needed "a good bath tub" so he set to work in the attic of his home and finally came forth with a tub-table-stove combination which became one or the other as the housewife desired.

"There are somewhere between 6,000,000 and 15,000,000 homes in this country without regular tubs," Castanien declares. "Now, after eight years' experimentation, I have what the nation needs—a good tub."

The table has a stove at one end for gas or oil heating of water for the tub, which is revealed when one presses a gadget or two.

The whole affair is raised from the floor so, as Castanien points out, "you don't have to move it to sweep under it."

A Book a Day
By Bruce Catton

Entertaining Study of Family Life
"Candle Indoors," by Helen Hull (Coward-McCann, $2.50), is when you brush aside the minor characters and concentrate upon the main theme of the novel, the story of a man who came to know his wife after her death.

It is the study of the growth of perception in Arnold Carlton, who finds himself facing the problem of rearing three sensitive, impressionable children after the sudden death of his wife.

As he learns to know his children and the complex mechanism of family life, a picture of the dead woman is gradually etched upon Arnold's mind and that of the reader.

The three children—Frances, serious and sensitive; Bill, reserved and forthright; and Candace, subtle, selfish, and charming—are about as winning a trio as I've encountered in some time. Miss Hull deserves an orchid for being honest about them and for giving them the real mannerisms and problems of youth, rather than foisting upon them the stage props used by many modern writers.

As each child grows older and turns toward his own life, a double problem is presented; the individual's choice of a way of life and the problem of what significance that choice has for Arnold.

Through emotional and economic crisis, Arnold and his family rise to maturity of feeling and understanding, and the book closes on an honestly conceived, satisfactory note.

There is nothing very startling about this book. It is pleasant, entertaining, highly readable, but if you're seeking a great message for the world, you won't find it here. It has, however, a charm and honesty and a lack of pose found all too seldom in novels of family life.

Helen Hull is a writer of acute penetration, and she delves into the consciousness of her characters with skill and thoroughness.—E. M. T.

Marx finishes a day at the studio as a wild-eyed maniac, his idea of a big evening is to put a dozen symphonic records on his automatic phonograph and curl up on a couch.

Charles Laughton made his great hit as Captain Bligh in "Mutiny on the Bounty," but he gets seasick every time he steps on a ship, even if it's tied to a dock. And James Cagney, who has impersonated a pilot in some aviation pictures, gets dizzy looking out of a second-story window.

Hollywood is a town where doctors advise weary executives: "You've got to go easy on the night clubs and the golf. You'd better stay in your office and have a good rest."

Jessie Ralph, veteran character actress, has played practically every nationality under the sun except her native Scotch. George Brent has a fine baritone voice, but they won't let him use it on the screen. Dick Foran is a cowboy star, but until he came to Hollywood he never had been on a horse.

Have Your Stationery, Leather Goods, Etc.

MONOGRAMMED

with our new electric operated monogram machine. Prints in different sizes and colors. Carl Jones in charge.

JOHN S. GIBSON BOOK STORE

The Rexall Store

Phone 63 Delivery

Twenty-three million Loch Leven trout were produced by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries in 1932.

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 4 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of aching backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of power and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eye, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Ison's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Ison's Pills.

WANTED—LOGS and PINE BOLTS

500,000 Feet White Oak Overcup, Post Oak, Burr Oak and Red Oak and Sweet Gum Logs.

For Prices and Specifications Apply to HOPE HEADING CO. Phone 245

BORROW At 5% Interest

We will gladly loan regularly employed white people in amounts from $25.00 to $300.00 at 5% interest on chattel mortgage on HOUSEHOLD GOODS, Automobiles, good personal endorsements, etc. For full information write

J. L. Wallin, AGENT 292 Pyramid Building Little Rock, Ark.

For small acreage close in. Cheap homes, easy payments and vacant lots, see—

A. C. Erwin

KIDNEY ACIDS!

You Must Keep Them Flushed Out if You Would Enjoy Good Health

If badly functioning kidneys cause you to get up two or three times a night and your back aches together with acidity, itching and smarting, probably all you need is a good kidney stimulant and diuretic.

Nowadays thousands of wise Americans at the first sign of Kidney and Bladder disorder, start taking good old RAMON'S BROWNIE PILLS for the kidneys. They cost but 35 cents, and must be good or druggists wouldn't sell so many of them.

CLEMENTS BARGAIN GROCERY

Special Prices For Saturday and Monday

Chocolate Candy, fancy cream centers—lb.	10c
MIXED CANDY—Pound	10c
ORANGES, new crop Calif., nice size, doz.	15c
POP CORN—Pound	10c
K. C. BAKING POWDER, 25c size for only	15c
LUZIANNE COFFEE—Pound	22c
EVERY MEAT SALT—100 pounds	90c
Post Toasties and Corn Flakes—pkg.	7 1/2c
BANANAS, nice size and coral—dozen	15c
COCOANUTS, large size—Eahc	6c
SUGAR cloth sack—10 pounds	49c

This is a Strictly Home Owned Store That Features Price and Quality and a Square Deal to All.

NOTICE!

On and after December 10, 1936, Tom Carrel will be pound keeper for the city of Hope.

Fees will be $1.00 per head for first day and 25c per day for each additional day.

It is your duty as a citizen to notify Mr. Carrel at Carrel's Mule Barn on South Walnut street or the Police Department of any and all livestock running at large in the city.

Albert Graves, MAYOR.

NEW CROP Sorghum

Clean Buckets

55c

Per Gallon

Hope Star

Society

Mrs. Sid Henry Telephone 321

Christmas Will Send You Home

All through the year you may wander, but Christmas will send you home where the logs are piled for the hearth where the Yule fires burn. When the holly that hangs from the window is brought from the mountain loam. You will think of the ones who are watching for your return. Though you may stand on the rim of the world, away from the beaten track. Lost to the date and the season, forgetful of Christmas Day. The odor of pine or the chime of a bell will suddenly take you back. To a tree that was laden with Christmas gifts and the bells of a passing sleigh. Christmas is more than a tinsel star festooned by gilded strings. More than an altar for costly gifts where the best of it all lies slain. 'Tis the voice of a friend, the clasp of a hand or the knowledge of love that brings. The ones most dear from the scattered paths, guiding them home again. —Selected (by request)

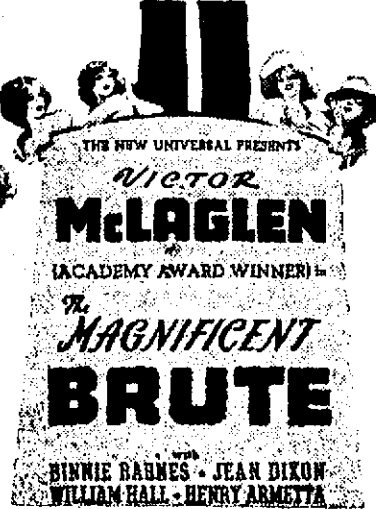

Circle No. 5 of the W. M. U., First Baptist church will entertain the Sunbeams at a Christmas party at 3:15 p.m. at the church. All members of Sunbeams are requested to see that they are present, bringing a small inexpensive gift. A special treat is in store for all present.

The December meeting of Circle No. 1 W. M. S., First Methodist church was held at the home of Mrs. Henry H.

Saenger

Friday Matinee 15c

A FIGHTING FIEND AND A FOOL FOR BLONDES!

COMING SUNDAY

EXTRA DOUBLE FEATURE

ATTRACTION POPEYE

His FIRST 3 reel Cartoon in all Colors— "Sinbad the Sailor"

Pennies from Heaven Bing Crosby

Stuart, with Mrs. G. Frank Miles and Mrs. O. L. Reed as associate hostesses. Mrs. S. H. Davenport, the assistant leader presided and the program was with prayer. God's Gift of Love, was the theme for Mrs. Stuart's inspiring devotionals. Minutes were read, financial reports given, and announcements pertaining to the closing of the year's work were made. Miss Dell McClanahan presented an interesting program closing our year's study of "Race Relationship." A report was given from Bethlehem Center, Nashville, Tenn., by Mrs. Henry Hill, enumerating new features of service now in use for the colored population in that community. Mrs. Edwin Ward gave an article, entitled "Observing Christmas," which was of special interest, closing with a beautiful poem, "Christmas If's." A collection of toys was turned over to Mrs. Ward, to be given to the needy children. Dues were collected and during the social hour, the hostesses served a tempting salad course with tea. The January meeting will be held at the home of the leader, Mrs. John P. Cox on South Elm street.

Mrs. O. L. Reed left Tuesday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Dwight Blake and Mr. Blake in Minden, La. —
Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hollis of Little Rock were guests at Hotel Barlow on Wednesday. —
Dr. and Mrs. Robert Young of Atlanta, Ga., announce the arrival of a little daughter, Angela Elaine, November 21 in Emory hospital. Dr. Young will be remembered as a former Hope boy. —
The John Cain chapter, D. A. R., held its December meeting with a beautifully appointed luncheon at Hotel Barlow, with Mrs. R. M. Briant and Mrs. O. A. Graves as hostesses. The members and their guests, which were introduced as Mrs. C. D. Lester, Mrs. Fred R. Harrison, Miss Maggie Bell, Mrs. J. T. West, Dr. Elton Champlin and Mrs. Sid Henry were seated at one large round table, which in its appointments and decorations was truly a most delightful Christmas inspiration. Holding for its central decoration a tall mound of Nadinus tapering gracefully to the base from which were arranged sprays of Nadinus leaves, with the berries giving the colorful touch reaching to the outer circle which was flanked by tall red tapers burning in green holders alternating with dainty bubble vases from which trailed the crimson berries and green leaves. Twenty-five were seated around the table, and a most tempting turkey luncheon was served with the salad and dessert stressing the Christmas motif. Following the luncheon the meeting was opened by the regent, Miss Mamie Twitshell leading in the impressive D. A. R. ritual, followed by a short business session, at which time the regent appointed the nominating committee and heard reports from the various standing committees. Donations for Ellis Island were received. Following the dispatch of business, Mrs. J. J. Battle assisted by Mrs. J. G. Martindale, Mrs. Chas. Haynes, Mrs. Gus Haynes, Mrs. Chas. Locke and Mrs. C. D. Lester presented a most interesting program. —
Mrs. Walter H. Buhling of Chicago will be the guest of the four local P. T. A. units at a one day training class at the city hall on Friday, beginning at 9 o'clock. Luncheon at Hotel Barlow at 11:30. All members are invited to meet Mrs. Buhling. —
The Friday Music Club will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Guyola Basye, E. Third street. The Choral club will meet at 2 o'clock, when an important rehearsal will be held. The study on "Indian Music," led by Miss Harriet Story will follow the Choral practice, beginning at 3.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Italy, (AP)—Luigi Pirandello, famed Italian playwright, winner of the 1934 Nobel prize for literature, died Thursday.

Deserts Greatest

(Continued From Page One)

they will marry.

May Move to U. S. A. WARRENTON, Va. (AP)—Hugh Spillman, intimate friend and escort of Wallis Warfield Simpson Spencer during her divorce proceedings here in 1927, said Thursday he considered it

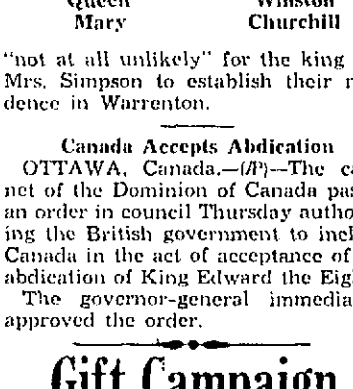

Mrs. Wallis Simpson

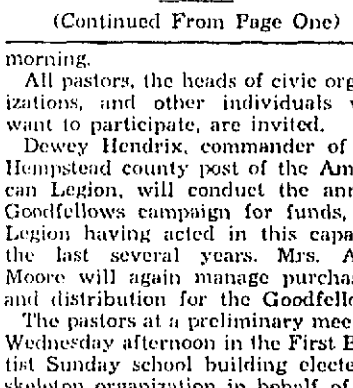

His Majesty Edward VIII

Prince Albert, Duke of York

Queen Mary

Winston Churchill

"not at all unlikely" for the king and Mrs. Simpson to establish their residence in Warrenton.

Canada Accepts Abdication OTTAWA, Canada (AP)—The cabinet of the Dominion of Canada passed an order in council Thursday authorizing the British government to include Canada in the act of acceptance of the abdication of King Edward the Eighth.

The governor-general immediately approved the order.

Reindeer are the only deer of which both sexes bear antlers.

Deer's antlers sometimes attain a weight of 70 pounds.

Reindeer are the only deer of which both sexes bear antlers.

Deer's antlers sometimes attain a weight of 70 pounds.

Reindeer are the only deer of which both sexes bear antlers.

Deer's antlers sometimes attain a weight of 70 pounds.

Reindeer are the only deer of which both sexes bear antlers.

Deer's antlers sometimes attain a weight of 70 pounds.

Reindeer are the only deer of which both sexes bear antlers.

Deer's antlers sometimes attain a weight of 70 pounds.

Reindeer are the only deer of which both sexes bear antlers.

Deer's antlers sometimes attain a weight of 70 pounds.

Reindeer are the only deer of which both sexes bear antlers.

Peacher Decides to Pay Slavery Fine

Earle City Marshal Returns to His Original Decision

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Attorneys for Paul Peacher, Earle city marshal, announced Thursday that he had notified them he would pay the $3,500 fine and accept a two-year probationary sentence for subjecting seven negroes to slavery.

Peacher originally announced this course, then changed his mind and said he would appeal the case, in which even the risk of serving the prison sentence—payment of the fine only not being optional in case of appeal. He has returned to his first view.

New British King

(Continued from page one)

what was probably destined to be the biggest thrill of all his life. He was a young surviving officer on a war vessel in the thick of one of the greatest and fiercest of all the naval engagements ever fought—the Battle of Jutland.

The Germans claimed a victory, basing it upon the fact that their fleet escaped destruction and that the British suffered more in vessels lost and sailors killed or drowned. But the British claimed it as a victory, because never again during the war did the German High Seas fleet venture out to do battle. It remained locked up in safe German waters until the war was over and then came up to Scapa Flow to surrender to the British.

The second of four articles telling the life story of the Duke of York—now King George the Sixth because of the abdication Thursday of his older brother, King Edward the Eighth.

In a battle on land, the supreme command, if it desires, can throw a protective screen around a seion of the royal house by seeing to it that he is placed in a comparatively safe position far back from the front. Nothing of the sort can be done for a royal officer serving on a ship engaged in a battle. There are no safe places unless the ship itself is taken out of the fight.

On the Collingwood, Midshipman Prince Albert took his chances and shared the peril with every man-jack from the humblest fireman, if the ship had been sunk or set on fire or exploded, Albert Windsor's chances would have been no better than those of plain John Smith. That's the spirit of most navies.

Made Knight of Garter After Battle During the heat of the action in the Jutland battle, Prince Albert served in a big-gun turret. His doughty ship was doing mighty work. First, she ward off a destroyer attack; later, she put out of action the German battleship Derfflinger, which herself had sunk several British vessels. The young Prince was mentioned in the dispatches for his courage and coolness.

Later in that year, as a sort of belated reward for his good work and also as a birthday present, his royal father made him a Knight of the Garter.

Incidentally, here it may be mentioned that he was promoted to full Lieutenant in the navy in 1918, to Captain in 1925 and to Rear Admiral in 1932. His brother, King Edward VIII, made him a full Admiral early in 1936.

In November, 1916, Prince Albert was appointed to a position on the staff of Sir Stanley Colville, who was Commander-in-Chief of Portsmouth Naval Station. But this land duty for an aspiring sea-dog did not suit the young man. He asked to be sent back to active service on the sea. Accordingly, promoted to sub-lieutenant, he was assigned to the battleship Malaya. As he had had actual experience as a gunnery officer during the Battle of Jutland, he was now made a turret officer.

But soon, to his own intense disgust, he became ill again. He had hoped that all the mysterious internal pains he had suffered would vanish after his operation for appendicitis, but they returned more severe than ever. In his own mind there was the torturing thought that, perhaps, he had some incurable internal complaint.

At last, in 1917, the sufferer could hold out no longer. He left the fleet at Rosyth and went into the hospital there. Sir Arbuthnot Lane, one of Britain's most famous doctors, happened to be there. He examined the Prince and pronounced his trouble to be a duodenal ulcer. An immediate operation was recommended. The patient went to join his father at Windsor Castle.

The anxious King asked his own surgeon, who did not agree that an immediate operation should be undertaken. He feared it might kill the Prince, as the ailment had run on for so long. However, a few weeks later the pain became so agonizing that the Prince was operated on. The royal patient made a quick recovery and has been in comparatively fine health ever since.

Qualified in Air Force As it was thought best not to send him back to the sea, Prince Albert now determined to identify himself with the air forces. Late in 1917 he went to Cranwell for training and duly qualified as a pilot. Later in the war he was on Tranchard's staff with the air force in France and stayed there until the armistice.

Even after the war was over, he retained his interest in the air force, particularly when it was made a distinct branch of the armed power of the nation under the title of Royal Air Force. He became a wing commander in 1920 and one of his most cherished uniforms was that of the blue-gray worn by airmen. One of the last acts of his father was to name him on January 1, 1936, as Air Marshal.

Resumed College Studies The war over, Prince Albert, like many another young man of the various belligerent nations, sought to take up again the higher education which had been interrupted. Accordingly, in 1919 and 1920, he went to Trinity College, Cambridge University, where he specialized in history, civics and economics. A big event in his life occurred on June 3, 1920, when his father created him a royal Duke, the Duke of York.

He now began to assume some of the social and civic responsibilities of a King's son. The bent of his mind was shown in his accepting the presidency of the Society for Industrial Welfare. He apparently made up his mind that this should not be a mere empty ges-

FLAPPER FANNY

By Sylvia

"And you'll always tell the truth?" "Oh, sure—then it's easier to remember what you've said."

12-10

turned, more severe than ever. In his own mind there was the torturing thought that, perhaps, he had some incurable internal complaint.

At last, in 1917, the sufferer could hold out no longer. He left the fleet at Rosyth and went into the hospital there. Sir Arbuthnot Lane, one of Britain's most famous doctors, happened to be there. He examined the Prince and pronounced his trouble to be a duodenal ulcer. An immediate operation was recommended. The patient went to join his father at Windsor Castle.

The anxious King asked his own surgeon, who did not agree that an immediate operation should be undertaken. He feared it might kill the Prince, as the ailment had run on for so long. However, a few weeks later the pain became so agonizing that the Prince was operated on. The royal patient made a quick recovery and has been in comparatively fine health ever since.

Qualified in Air Force As it was thought best not to send him back to the sea, Prince Albert now determined to identify himself with the air forces. Late in 1917 he went to Cranwell for training and duly qualified as a pilot. Later in the war he was on Tranchard's staff with the air force in France and stayed there until the armistice.

Even after the war was over, he retained his interest in the air force, particularly when it was made a distinct branch of the armed power of the nation under the title of Royal Air Force. He became a wing commander in 1920 and one of his most cherished uniforms was that of the blue-gray worn by airmen. One of the last acts of his father was to name him on January 1, 1936, as Air Marshal.

Resumed College Studies The war over, Prince Albert, like many another young man of the various belligerent nations, sought to take up again the higher education which had been interrupted. Accordingly, in 1919 and 1920, he went to Trinity College, Cambridge University, where he specialized in history, civics and economics. A big event in his life occurred on June 3, 1920, when his father created him a royal Duke, the Duke of York.

He now began to assume some of the social and civic responsibilities of a King's son. The bent of his mind was shown in his accepting the presidency of the Society for Industrial Welfare. He apparently made up his mind that this should not be a mere empty ges-turned, more severe than ever. In his own mind there was the torturing thought that, perhaps, he had some incurable internal complaint.

At last, in 1917, the sufferer could hold out no longer. He left the fleet at Rosyth and went into the hospital there. Sir Arbuthnot Lane, one of Britain's most famous doctors, happened to be there. He examined the Prince and pronounced his trouble to be a duodenal ulcer. An immediate operation was recommended. The patient went to join his father at Windsor Castle.

The anxious King asked his own surgeon, who did not agree that an immediate operation should be undertaken. He feared it might kill the Prince, as the ailment had run on for so long. However, a few weeks later the pain became so agonizing that the Prince was operated on. The royal patient made a quick recovery and has been in comparatively fine health ever since.

Qualified in Air Force As it was thought best not to send him back to the sea, Prince Albert now determined to identify himself with the air forces. Late in 1917 he went to Cranwell for training and duly qualified as a pilot. Later in the war he was on Tranchard's staff with the air force in France and stayed there until the armistice.

Even after the war was over, he retained his interest in the air force, particularly when it was made a distinct branch of the armed power of the nation under the title of Royal Air Force. He became a wing commander in 1920 and one of his most cherished uniforms was that of the blue-gray worn by airmen. One of the last acts of his father was to name him on January 1, 1936, as Air Marshal.

Resumed College Studies The war over, Prince Albert, like many another young man of the various belligerent nations, sought to take up again the higher education which had been interrupted. Accordingly, in 1919 and 1920, he went to Trinity College, Cambridge University, where he specialized in history, civics and economics. A big event in his life occurred on June 3, 1920, when his father created him a royal Duke, the Duke of York.

He now began to assume some of the social and civic responsibilities of a King's son. The bent of his mind was shown in his accepting the presidency of the Society for Industrial Welfare. He apparently made up his mind that this should not be a mere empty ges-turned, more severe than ever. In his own mind there was the torturing thought that, perhaps, he had some incurable internal complaint.

At last, in 1917, the sufferer could hold out no longer. He left the fleet at Rosyth and went into the hospital there. Sir Arbuthnot Lane, one of Britain's most famous doctors, happened to be there. He examined the Prince and pronounced his trouble to be a duodenal ulcer. An immediate operation was recommended. The patient went to join his father at Windsor Castle.

The anxious King asked his own surgeon, who did not agree that an immediate operation should be undertaken. He feared it might kill the Prince, as the ailment had run on for so long. However, a few weeks later the pain became so agonizing that the Prince was operated on. The royal patient made a quick recovery and has been in comparatively fine health ever since.

Pope Pius Suffers Paralysis Relapse

Vatican Says Even Though He Recovers He Will Be Crippled

VATICAN CITY, Rome, Italy. (AP)—It was reliably reported at the Vatican that Pope Pius suffered a relapse Thursday from paralysis.

The holy father, who was first stricken last Saturday, had been reported as recovering.

Shortly after the relapse was reported, a high Vatican source expressed the opinion that even if his holiness recovers from the present crisis he will never walk again.

ture, costing him nothing. He paid private unofficial visits to the Tescide and Clydeside industrial districts which had been hardest hit by the depression and studied at first hand the problems involved. Later on, he was to start, patronize and partly financially support his own summer camp at New Romney in Kent. He gave it the name "Play the Game."

Here every year in the summer time lads from the factories and boys from the great "public" schools, which cater to the rich and the aristocratic, meet on equal terms. They dress in khaki shorts. They take care of their own camp, fetch their own water and fuel, do a large part of their own cooking and washing up and play all sorts of outdoor games. The Duke of York himself lives there a part of the time, dressed just as the boys are, eating the same food and playing the same games. His big idea is to break down class distinction and class feeling.

NEXT: The Duke of York shoulders his royal responsibilities.

COMMON COLDS

Relieve the distressing symptoms by applying Mentholum in nostrils and rubbing on chest.

MENTHOLATUM Gives COMFORT Daily

PHOTOS—4 for 10c

We make the largest and best 4 for a dime (10c) photos that can be bought.

Come in and be convinced.

THE Shipley Studio

South Walnut Street—Next Door to Hope Star

These gifts are on exhibition in our show windows and at the Saenger Theater.

We Are Also

Conducting a voting contest—giving away a fine prize every day—yesterday Lillian Houston won the prize—a $15.00 imported tea set—

The candidates names and vote standings are shown daily on Bulletin Sheets—in our show windows.

During the remainder of the week

We will give votes on all purchases at the rate of one vote for each cent—100 votes on each dollar.

Votes on Accounts

Friday and Saturday we will also give votes on all accounts paid at the rate of 500 for each dollar paid.

Following are the names of Leading Contestants

Showing their present vote standing

Mary Urban 58,320

Daisy Dorothy Heard 41,514

Mary Ann Little 49,558

Lillian Houston 65,148

Mary Evelyn Whitworth 33,628

Margaret Bacon 29,150

Kathryn Franks 36,382

Martha Ann Singleton 26,419

Enola Alexander 28,325

Mary Nell Carter 27,900

Elizabeth Kent 33,523

Ruth Lewis 39,645

Mrs. Teddie Jones 34,648

Mrs. Simpson

(Continued From Page One)

flattering background. The hostess, usually wearing an emerald necklace, valued at $150,000, which was a gift of the King. This drama, you understand, takes place on the nights when the guests do dress for dinner!

Chest Colds

Best treated without "dosing" VICKS VAPORUB

STAINLESS now, if you prefer

THE SPORTS PAGE

Status of Ten DeQueen Players Asked

Hammons Wants to Clear Up Rumors

Asks Arkansas Athletic Association to Make Investigation

Coach Foy Hammons revealed Thursday that he had written to J. D. Clary of Fordyce, president of the Arkansas Athletic Association, asking that the status of 10 DeQueen High School football players be cleared up.

"I have filed no formal protest against the DeQueen team and will not ask that the DeQueen game be forfeited," Hammons declared.

"Rumors have spread throughout the state that DeQueen carried ineligible players. I merely want to clear DeQueen in this matter or learn definitely whether the wide-spread rumors are true.

"As far as the score is concerned—DeQueen can have it, 12 to 7," the Bobcat coach said.

Hammons said that he had been furnished information from DeQueen citizens and from citizens in other towns that DeQueen played, who believe in fair play.

"The thing I resent mostly is that the coaches played men against us that were held out of other games that DeQueen played this year.

"Another thing that I resent is that several members of the team tinted their hair before the game, leading me to believe that they were trying to cover up something. I heard DeQueen fans who came here for the game comment on the color of the hair of several members of the team.

"Against Hope the DeQueen team had seven or eight red-headed boys and when the Leopards played Prescott the following week they had only one red-headed player.

"If all the rumors that have come to me is true—then it looks like football of 35 or 40 years ago instead of the 1936 brand," Hammons continued.

Hammons concluded by saying that he had asked Mr. Clary to ascertain the eligibility of the players, instead of seven, as reported in state papers Thursday morning.

Eligibility Questioned

DE QUEEN.—Eligibility of seven players of the De Queen High School football team during last season has been challenged by an official of the Hope High School in a protest filed with J. D. Clary of Fordyce, president of the Arkansas Athletic Association, it was learned yesterday.

The players are said to be Orville Crowder, Gene Rogers, Diston Hendrix, Buck Aubrey, David Young, Gene Gardner and Woodrow McLamore.

Mr. Clary is said to have written a letter to Miss Pearl Williamson, superintendent of the De Queen school, asking for information concerning the eligibility status of the seven players. Miss Williamson conferred with the members of the School Board Wednesday and said she would reply immediately.

Miss Williamson has said that she was not aware of any members of the team being ineligible at any time during the season, and that she notified Hope school authorities to this effect last week.

De Queen school authorities said that three of the seven players mentioned "are not in school and were not members of the squad; when De Queen played Hope," Gene Rogers, it was said, did not enter school this fall at De Queen and now lives in California. Orville Crowder and Diston Hendrix were dropped from the team earlier in the season, it was claimed.

De Queen defeated Hope, 12 to 7, in the season just closed, eliminating the Bobcats from possible claim on the mythical state championship.

Refuses to Discuss Protest

FORDYCE, Ark.—J. D. Clary, president of the Arkansas Athletic Association, admitted Wednesday night that he had received a protest from Hope High School officials regarding the eligibility of several De Queen High School football players. He said that he has requested information about the players from De Queen authorities and would not reach a decision until before next week.

In reply to a question regarding the status of the 12-to-7 game won by De Queen over Hope if the players were found ineligible, he said that under the rules of the A. A. A., if a guilty team wins the game is declared "no contest" and if an innocent team wins it is counted as a victory.

Heinie Manush Signs Contract With Dodgers

NEW YORK.—(P)—Heinie Manush, 35 outfielder, signed with the Brooklyn Dodgers Wednesday.

Manush, who won the American League batting championship in 1926 when he was with the Detroit Tigers, signed as a free agent. He was given his unconditional release by the Boston Red Sox at the close of the 1936 season. He appeared in 82 games for the Red Sox last season and batted .291.

Giants Buy 4 Pitchers From Greenwood Club

NEW YORK.—(P)—The New York Giants announced the purchase Wednesday night of four young pitchers from Greenwood of the Cotton States League. They were William Benne, John Meteki and Tom Ferrick, right-handers, and William Yarewick, south-paw.

Trade Winds May Blow Them Along

Van Lingle Mungo

Roy Hughes

Lew Riggs

Hank Leiber

Paul Waner

Dizzy Dean

John Whitehead

Rudy York

Rumors trickling out of the minor league meeting in Montreal, and due to be revived in the majors' meetings to follow, indicate that there is to be plenty of fuel shoveled in the Hot Stove League, hard by the pickle barrel and cracker box, this winter.

Above are several of the ball players reported to be in various deals.

Left is Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitcher. The Pirates are said to be after him, and are reported to be willing to part with hard-hitting Paul Waner, National League batting champion, shown swinging a bludgeon, and infielder Cookie Lavagetto, for the big right-hander.

Roy Hughes, upper left center, is the Cleveland Indians' second baseman, said to be on the market as bait for a third baseman. Below

Hughes left to right, are Lew Riggs, Cincinnati Red's third baseman, for whom the Cubs are said to be bidding, and Hank Leiber, Giants' outfielder, who is expected to be used as a pawn in a deal for a third baseman.

Upper right is the great Dizzy Dean. He has been in so many reported trades the last couple of months that he doesn't know for sure whether he'll start for San Antonio or Red Wing, Mich., next spring. Reds, Cubs, Pirates, and Giants are after him, but Sam Breadon wants everything but the kitchen stove in exchange. Below Dean are Johnny Whitehead, left, Chicago, White Sox pitcher, and Rudy York, Detroit Tiger first sacker. A deal sending York to Chicago for the big eater, Whitehead, may be consummated before spring.

Former Arkansas All-State Gridder Gets Mississippi Team in "Bad"

Roy Fisher of Searcy Is Declared Ineligible—10 Games Played by Mississippi Squad to Be Forfeited

HATTIESBURG, Miss.—(P)—Donald Fisher star Petal High School quarterback, was declared ineligible for high school competition and all games played by Petal this season with Fisher in the line-up were ordered forfeited by the Southeast Regional Committee in special session here Wednesday night.

The committee decided that the regional championship game will be played Friday night at Ellisville between the Jones County Aggies of Ellisville and the Mount Olive Pirates.

The game originally had been scheduled between Petal and the Jones County Aggies, Petal having defeated Mount Olive, 31 to 7, last week.

Appears Before Committee

Fisher appeared before the committee and said he was born January 10, 1916, in Searcy, Ark., and that he played on the Searcy High School team in 1931, 1933 and 1934, making the all-Arkansas high school eleven in 1933 and in 1934.

In the summer of 1935, he said he was employed on the new Louisiana State University stadium; that in the fall of 1935 he entered Southwestern University at Memphis with only 14½ high school units and that Southwestern officials told him he could play on the freshman team provided he passed enough work to fulfill the entrance requirements of 15 units.

Fisher said he left Southwestern in November, 1935, during the football season after having played in two games. He gave as his reason that he could not finish his work. He said he did not tell anyone that he was leaving but returned to his home at Searcy.

In April, 1936, the Fisher family came to Petal, where Mr. Fisher is engaged in the livestock business.

Young Fisher worked out with the Hattiesburg High School team and later entered the Petal High School, where he started in all 10 games played by the Petal eleven this season. Fisher declared he was married in 1934 to a Searcy (Ark.) girl but that the marriage had been annulled.

Starred for Searcy

LITTLE ROCK.—Don Fisher was known to Arkansas football fans as Roy Fisher. He starred as member of the Searcy High School team in 1931, to 34. He was placed on the Arkansas Gazette annual all-state team in 1934, and was one of the outstanding young football players in the South.

In This Corner . . . By Art Krenz

GOAT-GETTERS

THE ALLEY WRECKER WHO HABITUALLY ARRIVES IN THE MIDDLE OF THE THIRD FRAME, TOO LATE TO SELECT A BALL, AND WINDS UP USING YOUR PET FOR THE REST OF THE SEASON...

Washington Team Is 4 Years Late

Coach Phelan Predicted He'd Have Bowl Team in 1932

SEATTLE.—(P)—Coach Jimmy Phelan missed his guess by four long years when he gave the University of Washington the Pacific coast conference football championship this season.

When Phelan came to Washington in 1930, just after winning the Big Ten title at Purdue, he forecast that he would give the Huskies a winning combination within three years.

Washington supporters took this to mean that he would win the coast championship in that length of time. They had to wait seven years, however, to see the Huskies roll into the Rose Bowl but it was worth the wait. Phelan's charges knocked off every Pacific coast conference opponent except Stanford this season. The Indians held the Huskies to a 14-1 tie.

Now Phelan rates tops with the alumni and everybody else in town, and he is in line for a nice new contract—possibly for three years.

Last season Washington gave him only a 1-year contract after some of the boys began to talk.

In conference and non-conference competition the last seven years Phelan has won 39 games, lost 18 and tied 5.

His conference record follows:

Year	Won	Lost	Tied
1930	3	4	0
1931	3	4	1
1932	3	2	2
1933	3	1	0
1934	5	1	1
1935	4	3	0
1936	6	0	1

Marquette Team to Play in Dallas Cotton Bowl

MILWAUKEE.—(P)—Athletic Director Conrad M. Jennings announced Wednesday that Marquette University had accepted an invitation to represent the North in the Cotton Bowl football game at Dallas, Texas, New Year's day.

The announcement was made after the Athletic Board had voted favorably on the game.

The Hilltoppers' opponents are expected to be either Texas Christian University or Arkansas, depending on the outcome of Texas Christian's game with Santa Clara Saturday.

Interim Appointments Up to State's Senate

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Governor F. B. F. announced in a formal statement Thursday that he will send all his interim appointments to the senate in January for confirmation.

Once Was Athlete

NEW YORK.—(P)—That irrepressible baritone, John Charles Thomas, was an athlete once upon a time.

He played football against Jim Thorpe, ran a mile in five minutes, went over the bar in the high jump at five feet, 10 and a half inches, and still makes it around the links in the 80's.

An act of Congress is necessary to reinstate a policeman dismissed from the Washington, D. C., police force.

Only Curves Will Stop Yanks—Fitz

Can't Throw Fast Balls to Yanks and Sleep Well, Says Fitzsimmons

ARCADIA, Calif.—(P)—Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons, who shoves his knuckle ball up to the plate for the New York Giants, says you can't throw fast balls at the New York Yankees, world champions, and sleep well at night.

"They're all fast ball hitters. You've got to outsmart them, curve them out of there," Fred says, recalling that he lost a bitter 2-1 decision to the Yankees in the third game of the World Series and then was knocked out of the box in the sixth and last game.

Fitzsimmons says he thought he would be all right when he started the sixth game, but found he hadn't had enough rest.

"A curve ball pitcher like me needs more than two days' rest," he asserts. "A fast ball pitcher could have gotten by, since the strain is not so great on the arm."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

Frank Higgins Is Traded to Boston

Red Sox Club Gives Up Bill Webber in Straight Player Deal

NEW YORK.—(P)—Most of the major league baseball officials spent Wednesday wondering what Commissioner K. M. Landis will do with the "Feller case" Thursday.

In the only major trade of the day, Connie Mack, leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, sent Third Baseman Frank Higgins to the Boston Red Sox for Infielder Bill Webber.

It was announced as a straight player exchange but most baseball men figured the Athletics had money or players or both to come. There was some doubt also that Joe Cronin, Red Sox manager, would hang on to Higgins long. There were reports that he had started negotiations with Cleveland with the idea of sending Higgins to the Indians in exchange for Joe Vasmik, outfielder. Cronin has said that he would play third base himself next season.

There were six minor developments Wednesday.

1. All American League clubs except New York and Detroit agreed to play one night game against the Browns.

2. Both leagues gave clubs permission to schedule Sunday double-headers after their third Sunday at home.

3. Ernie Quigley was appointed supervisor of National League umpires, succeeding the late Cy Rigler.

4. National League adopted a new type homeplate with beveled edges, designed to cut down injuries to players sliding into home.

5. Presidents Ford Frick of the National and Will Harridge of the American were directed by the owners to confer with baseball manufacturers on designing a new type of "dead" ball.

6. American League scheduled that its batting champion must be at bat 400 times during season.

The Dean Situation

Most reliable information on the unreliable proposal that Dizzy Dean will be traded from Branch Rickey of the Cardinals, Bill Benswanger, president of the Pirates, and Warren Giles, general manager of the Reds, who said:

Rickey: "I doubt if Dean will be traded."

Benswanger: "Rickey wanted me to include Arky Vaughan in the deal and I won't trade Vaughan. After all, Dean is only a pitcher. He can't drive in runs, and can't pitch every day, and he can't field fly balls. I don't think any player in the game is worth $200,000."

Giles: "I still don't think we have a chance to get him. I asked Branch if we had any players he was particularly interested in."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

FROM FRANCE

The rich $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap has lured one of the outstanding 3-year-olds of Europe. He is Grand Manufol, above, imported by Raul Walsh, movie director, to run in the California track's classic.

CLUB NOTES

Hinton

Hinton Home Demonstration club met on November 8, with Mrs. W. Berlin Jones.

Miss Melba Bullington gave a demonstration on baking an Arkansas fruit cake and also gave a good talk on Rural Electricity and some other things. Patterns were selected for making Christmas gifts. Devotional and song were omitted on account of Miss Bullington having to be at Hinton and Patmos on the same day.

Roll call was answered by each member naming what they enjoyed best or what they had been benefited with through the club.

Our president and secretary were reelected. Gardening, Mrs. G. W. Camp; landscaping, Mrs. Velma Cogle; recreational leader, Mrs. Alice Camp; devotional, Mrs. W. E. Simmons; vice president, Mrs. Salmer Jones.

Nineteen members were present, two new members and one visitor. Several members were appointed to serve refreshments for the coming year. Our club had a Christmas tree and lunch was served in picnic style. Everyone enjoyed the day. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. G. W. Camp.

Cod liver oil causes a marked softening of fat when fed to hogs, an Iowa state college research report shows.

The population of England should attain its maximum figure by 1950, according to estimates.

ularly interested in. He said he didn't. Then I asked him if he'd sell Dean for $200,000 in cash. He said he wouldn't."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

"They're all tough in the big leagues," Freddie declares. "The 250 hitters and the 380 throwers. You've got to work hard on every batter."

He says there is no difference between a World Series game and a regular league game—you're working hard all the time.

Robbins, Benton Named Captains

Quarterback and End to Lead Razorback Team Next Fall

FAYETTEVILLE.—Jack Robbins, Little Rock, and James Benton, Port Jervis, were elected Wednesday night as captains of the 1937 University of Arkansas Razorbacks.

The election followed an annual banquet given letter men, coaches and the University Athletic Council by Dr. John C. Futrell, president of the University.

Robbins and Benton, both juniors, were named on the All-Southern Conference team this year and were perhaps the chief factors in the Arkansas march to its first conference title. Robbins is the able passer of the Southwest and Benton was acclaimed as the standout end.

Attending the banquet were 21 letter men who this week were awarded gold footballs with the inscription, "Southwest Conference Champions; Coaches Fred Thomson, George Cole, Glen Rose and Joe Fay Moore, Athletic Business Manager, Boyd Cyfert, Chairman J. S. Waterman of the Athletic Council and other council members.

Consider Dallas Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(P)—Coach Fred Thomson said here Wednesday night that the University of Arkansas had taken under consideration an invitation to play in the Cotton Bowl football game at Dallas New Year's Day.

Thomson said he would accompany other university officials to Dallas for a conference Friday night with sponsors of the Cotton Bowl classic.

"The proposition sounds pretty good and we will make known our decision at the Dallas meeting," Thomson said.

He said the invitation came from J. Curtis Sanford, Tyler, Texas, president of the Cotton Bowl Association.

Dean J. S. Waterman, chairman of the University of Arkansas Athletic Council, and Boyd Cyfert, business manager of athletics, will accompany Thomson to Dallas.

The Razorbacks won the Southwest Conference championship with a 6-to-0 victory over the University of Texas at Little Rock Saturday.

Rogers-Pickford Alliance Success

They're Likely to Make a Go of It, Buddy's Home Town Thinks

By the Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD.—Unreal parade: It's funny how things work out. Judge Rogers from Olathe, Kas., used to call Mrs. Rogers his "own Mary Pickford"—long before the family knew Mary in person, and in the days when everybody who might have predicted Mary would eventually be their daughter-in-law would have been considered a candidate for the psychopathist ward.

And argues of Mary and Buddy Rogers, a friend of the Rogers family recalls that even in high school Buddy went with girls who were older than he. The friend thinks Buddy and Mary will make a go of it.

Unconscious Comedy

The funniest line in the Laurel and Hardy feature, "Our Relations," wasn't intended to get laughs when

Crawling Vertebrate

HORIZONTAL

1. Vertebrate pictured here. It is one of the ———.

2. Corrosion.

3. To obtain.

4. Eaten.

5. God of war.

6. Mottish tooth.

7. Ocean.

8. Timepiece.

9. Scarlet.

10. To scatter.

11. Sharpened.

12. To harden.

13. Like.

14. Constellation.

15. To rent.

16. Therefore.

17. Affairs.

18. Church parts.

19. Marked with lines.

20. Astraddle.

21. Small cow.

22. Network.

23. Toward.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

11 One who fees.

12 Crescent-shaped figures.

13 Corrodes.

14 Measure.

15 Egyptian river.

16 Decays.

17 Map.

18 Seaweeds.

19 It has a long.

20 To entwine.

21 To demolish.

22 To carry.

23 Out grass.

24 Sandpaper.

25 God of sky.

26 Southeast.

27 Lava.

28 To perch.

29 Satiric.

30 Ten years.

31 Sailors.

32 Single things.

33 Wine vessel.

34 Stream.

35 Morindin dye.

36 Exclamation.

VERTICAL

1 Guided.

2 Eye parts.

3 Marked into zones.

4 Toward sea.

5 To free.

6 To accomplish.

7 Calendar period.

8 Pair.

9 Child.

10 Dante.

11 Dante.

12 Dante.

13 Dante.

14 Dante.

15 Dante.

16 Dante.

17 Dante.

18 Dante.

19 Dante.

20 Dante.

21 Dante.

22 Dante.

23 Dante.

24 Dante.

25 Dante.

26 Dante.

27 Dante.

28 Dante.

29 Dante.

30 Dante.

31 Dante.

32 Dante.

33 Dante.

34 Dante.

35 Dante.

36 Dante.

37 Dante.

38 Dante.

39 Dante.

40 Dante.

41 Dante.

42 Dante.

43 Dante.

44 Dante.

45 Dante.

46 Dante.

47 Dante.

48 Dante.

49 Dante.

50 Dante.

51 Dante.

52 Dante.

53 Dante.

54 Dante.

55 Dante.

56 Dante.

57 Dante.

58 Dante.

59 Dante.

60 Dante.

61 Dante.

62 Dante.

63 Dante.

64 Dante.

65 Dante.

66 Dante.

67 Dante.

68 Dante.

69 Dante.

70 Dante.

71 Dante.

72 Dante.

73 Dante.

74 Dante.

75 Dante.

76 Dante.

77 Dante.

78 Dante.

79 Dante.

80 Dante.

81 Dante.

82 Dante.

83 Dante.

84 Dante.

85 Dante.

86 Dante.

87 Dante.

88 Dante.

89 Dante.

90 Dante.

91 Dante.

92 Dante.

93 Dante.

94 Dante.

95 Dante.

96 Dante.

97 Dante.

98 Dante.

99 Dante.

100 Dante.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

with . . . Major Hoople

OUT OUR WAY

By WILLIAMS

HAW, ALVIN, M'AD! THIS IS THE SNOW GUT I WORE WHEN CAPTAIN OF THE BOB-LED TEAM THAT WON FOR UNCLE SAM AT THE OLYMPICS—KAF-KAF—

OH, CORK UP! YOU COULDN'T STEER A CANOE INTO A FERRY SLIP— THE FASTEST SLIDE YOU EVER TOOK WAS DOWN THE BACK STAIRS, WHEN THEY RAIDED KELLY'S SPEAK!

SLIDE THE LETTER OUT OF THIS ENVELOPE AND SEE WHAT YOUR LAWYER WANTS TO POUND OVER THE ANVIL WITH YOU!

WAS THAT THE TIME YOU WENT SO FAST THE SLED RUNNERS MELTED, UNCLE AMOS?

HE HAS BEEN COASTING IN AN ARMCHAIR EVER SINCE—

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

STOP IT! STOP IT! YOUR FATHER IS TAKING A NAP, AND IF YOU WAKE HIM, I'LL HAVE THREE RAVING MANIACS TO LISTEN TO!!

OH, YEAH! WHO'S GONNA SLAP IT? I'M TELLIN' YOU, AGAIN, THAT BEAU OF YOURS IS A TIGHTWAD! DOES HE EVER BRING YA A BOX OF CANDY? NO!!

SHUT UP, YOU! ONE MORE CRACK LIKE THAT AND YOU'LL GET YOUR FACE SLAPPED!

THE SILENCER.

One Thing Certain

HOW'M I DOING, HONEY?

SWELL! HONEST, MISTER—I DON'T SEE HOW I EVER GOT ALONG WITHOUT YOU

I KNOW IT'S SELFISH, BUT I WOULDN'T MIND A BIT IF YOU NEVER FOUND OUT YOUR REAL NAME, AN' ALL TH' DETAILS

I'VE THOUGHT OF THAT, TOO

ALLEY OOP

EVERYONE'S BEEN SO NICE TO ME— GOSH, I DON'T SEE HOW I COULD BE ANY HAPPIER THAN I AM RIGHT NOW

I WOULD LIKE TO KNOW WHO, AND WHAT, I AM, THO

WELL, I KNOW ONE THING YOU AREN'T—N'NEVER HAVE BEEN— A COOK

By MARTIN

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS. — (AP) — December cotton opened Thursday at 12.65 and closed at 12.66-67.

Spot cotton closed steady at 15 points up, middling 12.86.

Bausch Takes Bride

Jim Bausch, former University of Kansas track and football star, and decathlon champion of the 1932 Olympic Games, has taken unto himself a wife. She is the former Marjorie Voyles, of Tulsa, Okla., shown above with her hubby after their wedding in that city.

Sell It! Find It! Rent It! Buy It! in the Hope Star

MARKET PLACE

Remember, the more you tell, the quicker you sell.

1 time, 10c line, min. 30c

For consecutive insertions, minimum of 4 lines in one ad:

3 times, 5c line, min. 50c

6 times, 5c line, min. 90c

26 times, 3 1/2c line, min. $2.75 (Average 5 1/2 words to the line)

NOTE—Want ads will be accepted with the understanding that the bill is payable on presentation of statement, before the first publication

Phone 766

SALESMAN WANTED

WANTED—Farmers or farmers sons over 21 years of age with good car to travel in the country. Steady work. Write for particulars.

G. C. Heberling Co.

Dept. 43

Bloomington, Ill.

9-21-c

WANTED TO RENT

WANTED—Two unfurnished rooms. Close in. Phone 757.

10-31p

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Newly furnished front bedroom. 512 West Fourth Street. Phone 6.

10-31p

FOR RENT—My home at 406 South Spruce. Six rooms, furnished. Mrs. J. E. Schooley, phone 1538-4 rings. 8-6c

WANTED TO BUY

WANTED TO BUY—Clean Cotton rags. Will pay best prices. Dudley and Jarvis Service Station, East Third.

5-31c

WANTED TO BUY

WANTED—Fat hogs. Will pay 7c per pound. See or write R. W. Whyte, Farmer Route 2.

10-26p

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Bois D'Arc Posts, 5 to 8 cents per post, F. O. B. at the Farm. A. N. Stroud, Washington, Arkansas.

10-26p

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Turkeys for Christmas. Place orders now. Lee H. Garland, Phone 1609-F3.

10-31p

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Best grade sorghum molasses. 55 cents per gallon. New buckets. Call at Hope Star office.

25-26-dh

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—850 Watt Delco generator in good condition. C. W. McConnell, Emmet, Route 1, Hope-Boldcow road near Martin Fuller.

7-31p

FOR SALE

For your Christmas Trees go to Mont's Seed Store.

8-31c

NOTICE

NOTICE—This is to certify that my place is posted to trespassers from this date on. W. E. Hatfield.

10-31p

Stamp News

By I S Klein

FRANCE next year will commemorate the tenth anniversary of Lindbergh's non-stop flight across the Atlantic with a special stamp. It will be issued in connection with the New York to Paris air derby scheduled for next May.

A proposal that may produce an innovation in stamp issues is that the Little Entente, comprising Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and Rumania, issue a combined series of stamps, bearing the portraits of their rulers, President Benes, King Peter, and King Carol. The suggestion has been referred to a special meeting.

Switzerland has added two values to its regular series of stamps, and has reprinted the stamps in engraved form. Now there are nine stamps to a set. The same country also has issued a set of three values for the national debt loan, and is preparing another "Pro Juventute" series for charity.

No word yet about the forthcoming Army-Navy series, but the U. S. Postoffice Department promises to keep its pledge about issuing the stamps soon.

Greece is preparing another series of stamps bearing pictures of events in Greek history.

And the fourth centenary of the founding of Guayaquil, Ecuador, in 1537, will be remembered by a new series of Ecuador stamps next year.

(Copyright 1936 NEA Service, Inc.)

WELL, MY FRIENDS— WE HATE TO SEE YOU LEAVE—YOU MOOVIES HAVE DONE SO MUCH FOR US—

WE'VE CERTAINLY ENJOYED OUR STAY HERE IN SAWALLA—

AW, FORGET IT, LOO— AN' WE'LL SOON BE SENDING YOU A BIG SHIPMENT OF NICE HIDES IN PAYMENT FOR THIS LOAD OF SALT—

DANG THAT FOOL OOP FOR RUNNIN' OFF JUS' WHEN WE NEEDED HIS DINOSAUR T'HAUL US AN' OUR SALT BACK TO MOO—

WASH TUBBS

HEY, THERE, Y'ALL— LISSEN!

ALLEY OOP! WELL, OUR BIG HANDSOME HERO IS BACK!

I JUST CAME BACK FROM MOO— EVERYTHING'S A MESS! THAT BIG YAP OF A BROTHER OF YOURS, WUR, IS ALIVE— AN' HE'S JOINED UP WITH OL' KING TUNK!

OH, OH! THAT MEANS TROUBLE! WE GOTTA GIT BACK HOME IN A HURRY!

By HAMLIN

IF YOU WANT TO GIT EVEN / W! DAT BOXER, MISTA BOW WOW, YOU KIN BORRA MAH BLACKJACK.

THANKS, SAM, BUT THERE'S MORE THAN ONE WAY TO SKIN A CAT.

WHO WANTS TO MAKE A HUNNED DOLLAS? WHO CAN WHIP THIS CITY SLICKER? IS THERE NO MAN OF BRAWN AND MUSCLE WHOLL VOLUNTEER? THEN ANY TWO MEN!

HEY! GIVE 'EM A CHANCE TO SPEAK.

There's a Crowd

WHAT! NOT EVEN TWO MEN? THEN, ARE THERE THREE RED-BLOODED AMERICANS WHO AINT AFRAID TO FIGHT?

SHORE! WE'LL WHIP 'IM!

YOU BET!

By CRANE

MY NAME IS TONI PEYTON, AND I'VE BEEN TOLD YOUR NAME IS FRECKLES—I'VE HEARD ABOUT YOU!

H.H.HOW DO YOU DO, I'M SURE!

I SAW YOU PLAY FOOTBALL AGAINST KINGSTON, AND I WONDERED IF YOU'D PLEASE GIVE ME YOUR AUTOGRAPH!

WHY, I'D... I'D... LOVE TO!!

THANK YOU... NOW, JUST SIGN IT HERE... AND HERE... AND HERE... AND HERE!

GEE, YOU CERTAINLY MUST WANT MY AUTOGRAPH!!

THERE! NOW WHAT ARE YOU GONNA DO WITH ALL THOSE AUTOGRAPHS?

I'M GOING TO MAKE THE MOST OF THEM!

THAT WAS A DANCE PROGRAM YOU SIGNED... WITH EVERY DANCE GIVEN TO ME! DO YOU MIND?

TAKE A GOOD LOOK AT ME MINDING!!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

NO JACK'S SURPRISE, THE MAN MAKES NO ATTEMPT TO EVADE HIM, BUT SMILES A CORDIAL GREETING!

OKAY, MR. HYSTER, OR WHATEVER YOU NOW CALL YOURSELF—I GIVE UP—WHAT'S YOUR GAME?

GAME? YOU CONFUSE ME, COMRADE. I'VE BEEN ASSIGNED BY M' TO COVER YOUR ACTIVITIES!

THAT FELLOW MAY NOT BE HYSTER, BUT HE GIVES ME THE SHIVERS, JUST THE SAME!

Hook, Line and Sinker

AS THE LITTLE GROUP LEAVES THE MURDERED OFFICIAL'S HOUSE, MYRA SPOTS A FAMILIAR FIGURE BY THE STEP.

JACK! THAT MAN... IT'S HYSTER!

OR HIS DOUBLE THAT'S THE SAME BIRD I SAW IN M'S QUARTERS IN PARIS!

MYRA, YOU GO WITH THE INSPECTOR TO INVESTIGATE THIS NEW CRIME! I'M GOING TO SETTLE THIS QUESTION ONCE AND FOR ALL!

Jack Is Puzzled

NO JACK'S SURPRISE, THE MAN MAKES NO ATTEMPT TO EVADE HIM, BUT SMILES A CORDIAL GREETING!

OKAY, MR. HYSTER, OR WHATEVER YOU NOW CALL YOURSELF—I GIVE UP—WHAT'S YOUR GAME?

GAME? YOU CONFUSE ME, COMRADE. I'VE BEEN ASSIGNED BY M' TO COVER YOUR ACTIVITIES!

THAT FELLOW MAY NOT BE HYSTER, BUT HE GIVES ME THE SHIVERS, JUST THE SAME!

By THOMPSON AND COLL

Isolation in the "Quiet Room" is Only Punishment Given Never-Spanked Quins

This is the fourth of a series of five new stories by Dr. Allan Roy Dajoe, physician to the Dionne quintuplets, written exclusively for NEA Service under a renewed arrangement.

By ALLEN ROY DAJOE
M. D., O. B. E.

(Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)
CALLANDER, Ont.—Perhaps the most interesting room in the Dionne children's nursery today is "the quiet room."

Thanks to the fact that the nursery has been enlarged to the point where it is quite a large "plant," we have been able to reserve an entire room for disciplinary purposes. That is why we call it "the quiet room."

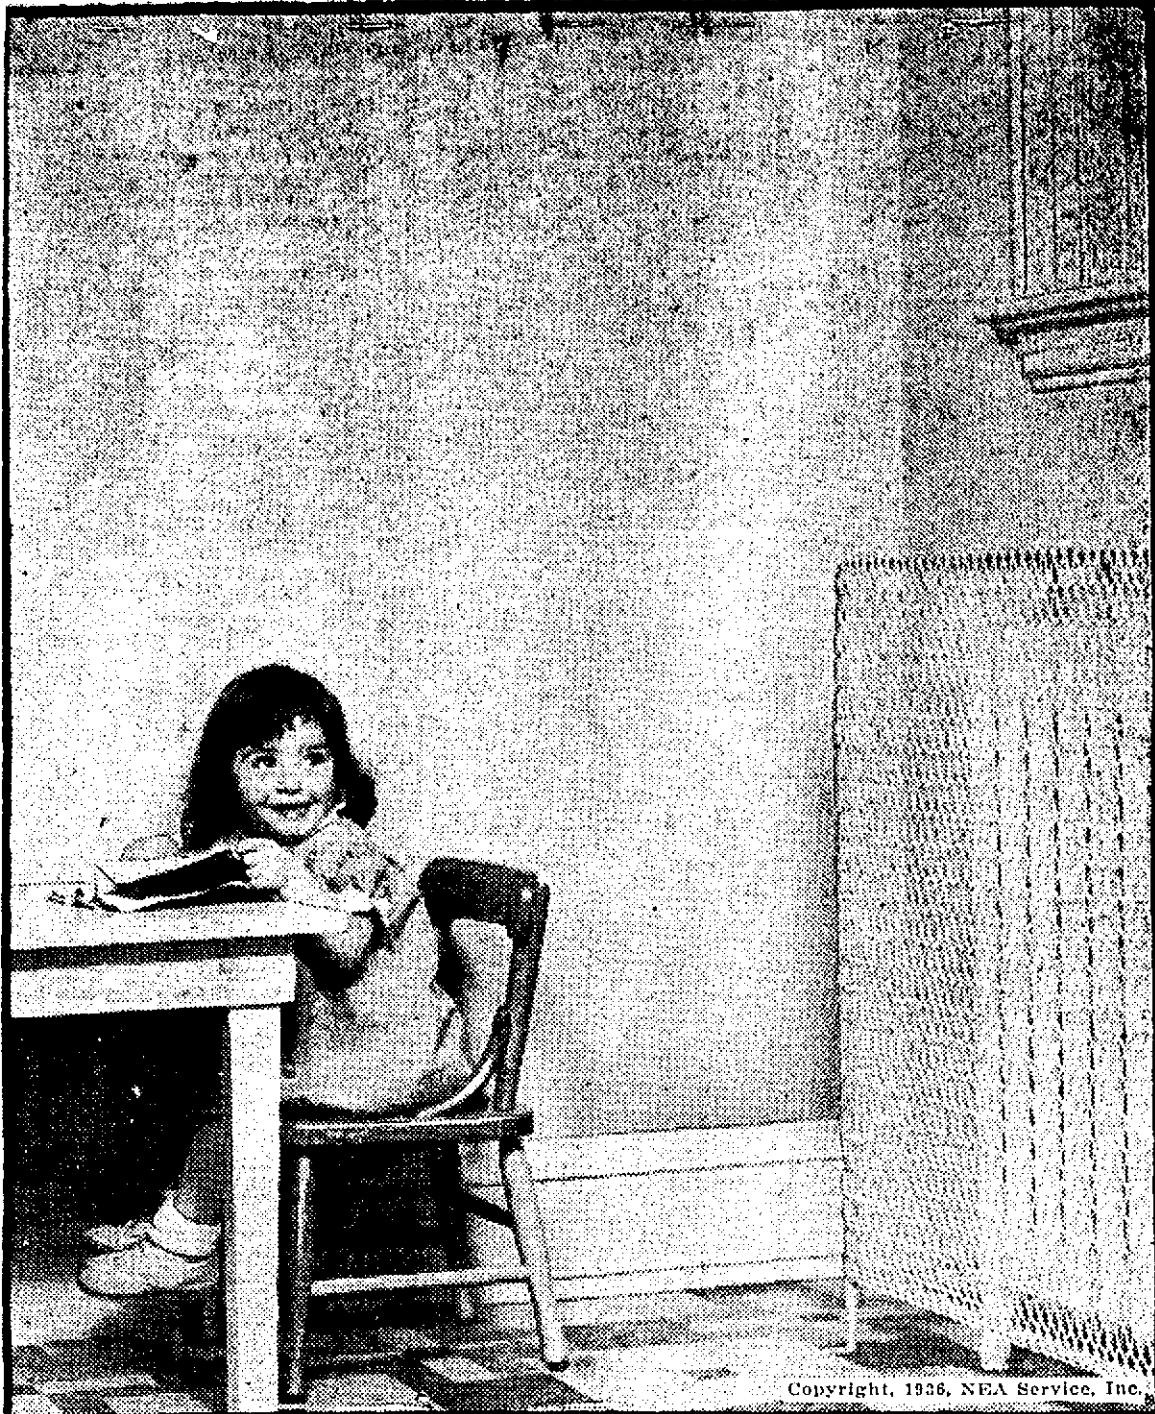

The Dionne girls, as I have said before, are never punished physically. Our only form of punishment has been to segregate the girl who has "been bad" from the others.

At first, when the girls were younger, we simply set the "bad one" apart and did not allow her to take part in the play of her sisters. But now that they are larger, it is necessary to put the one who is being admonished in a separate room.

So "the quiet room" developed. It is 8 feet by 6, light and airy, and in every way equal to any other room in the house. There is a table, a single chair. On the table we keep picture books, and the large window provides plenty of light.

Loneliness is Penalty
Everything is entirely comfortable. But note two things: there is absolutely nothing in the room with which the child can hurt herself, and the only element of punishment is that she must be alone, and separated from her sisters.

I can't say enough against the cus-

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Why, Marie! What have you done now? That's the "quiet room" you're sitting in, the room where quins are separated from their little sisters when they've been naughty. And though you may grin implicitly, for the room is light and airy, and contains picture-books you may look at, we know that pretty soon you'll miss those four other little sisters. And then you'll be sorry for what you've done, and well bet you'll never do it again. This mild "isolation" punishment has been sufficient to keep in order the unspanked quins.

tom of some parents of locking their children in a dark closet or in the cellar or some other cramped or uncomfortable place.

That is barbarous and cruel. It brings in fright as part of the punishment, and that may have very bad effects on the child's nervous system, immediately or later on.

In our "quiet room" there is nothing like this. The child has every comfort and amusement her sisters have, except their company. That has proved punishment enough.

We always make it clear to the children exactly why they are sent to the "quiet room," and explain that when they are in the mood to be "good girls" again, they may resume their normal relations with their sisters.

Nursery Growing "Plant"

It is facilities like this, the ability to devote one room entirely to this disciplinary purpose, that makes our nursery "plant" quite an institution.

Naturally, it doesn't seem like an "institution" to the children. Most of it they have never even seen. The part actually used by the children themselves is kept in every way as much like a home as possible.

But the nursery has been growing almost as fast as the little girls themselves. Today, with the newly completed staff house, the buildings and equipment would represent a value of more than $40,000 all paid for with money earned by the quintuplets themselves, and held in trust for them.

Before next summer we hope that the group of buildings will be entirely enclosed by a long fence that will run back into the wooded area behind the house.

This will make an enclosure of several acres, and will enable the children to play among the trees and flowers of the natural Canadian woodland without leaving their own enclosure.

Size is Doubled

Even now the group of buildings makes quite an impressive "plant," much more adequate than the original nursery.

The nursery itself has been extended to more than twice its size in those days, and the staff house, a separate building some 50 yards away on the rocky hillside adjoining the nursery yard, completes our "layout" for the present.

Many visitors, seeing the nursery only from the side facing the road, do not realize what an extensive place it is. The playroom, which extends all the way across the front, and which, with its veranda, is visible from the road, is duplicated in size by the children's bedroom, just beyond it.

This was the original nursery room before the building was enlarged. Behind this is the office, where the nurses keep their charts and records, and the bathroom, where the special small washstands and the large bathtub are installed. Behind this is a dining room for the children, and adjoining this the pantry and kitchen.

Still farther behind this are lavatory, dining room, and a small sitting room for the staff.

Isolation Room Provided

A wing extending out toward the playground from the center of the building contains the "quiet room," which I have described and an isolation room which is not used except in case one of the children should come down with a communicable illness.

This room has scarcely been used.

but if it should save four of the children from catching any other children's disease which had attacked one, it would be well worth while.

In this wing, also, is the special playroom, fitted up with piano, phonograph, and facilities for story-telling, dancing and music.

On the second floor is a row of storage closets filled with the many toys and other gifts which have been sent to the quins by their well-wishers. Such usable clothing and toys beyond immediate need are given to the Dionne family.

But many of the toys are such as will be very useful to the quins a little later, and many of the costumes and other articles are of a special nature scarcely adapted to everyday use. Also on this floor are bedrooms for the housekeeper and two maids.

Staff is Large

Now all that is a pretty elaborate layout, especially if you include the outdoor playground and the staff house. The number of people employed, regular and part-time, varies between 10 and 15.

Even with the enlarged nursery, this presented a housing problem, and it was to solve this problem that the new staff house was built.

This, in two separate sides of a "duplex" house, provides living quarters for three nurses or teachers, and for the three police.

Further improvement in sanitary facilities available to visitors has also been made, and by next summer the whole group of buildings will give the appearance of a small village in itself.

NEXT: How the quins enjoy outdoor life; their diet for colder weather; how check is kept on health.

Bells Chapel

Mrs. Vera Johnson of Longview, Texas visited friends and relatives in this community Sunday.

Mrs. M. J. Ritchie is visiting Mrs. Hart at Arkadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey were shopping in Prescott Friday.

Leslie Mouser and Miss Gladys Hoover were married Friday, December 4, all their friends wish them a long and prosperous life together.

Miss Louise Smith of Hope called on her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tholbert Smith Monday night.

Misses Goulina and Martha Cramer were shopping in Prescott Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Douglas of Emmett is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvina Hoover.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wood, Misses Irma and Joyce Wood were shopping in Prescott Monday.

Walter Hartless returned to his home Friday after an extended visit in Tucson, Arizona.

Miss Ruby Garner is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garner at Bodow.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yates made a business trip to Hope Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sampson were Monday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brooks.

Jinx Party

IRVING, Texas.—(AP)—Superstition means nothing to Maxine Norton, who celebrated her 13th birthday on Friday the 13th with a "jinx" party.

She invited 13 boys and 13 girls. They played 13 games and 13 prizes were awarded. Maxine weighed 13 pounds at birth.

Only 10 Confederate veterans survive in Florida.

Hollywood Fooled by Miss Sullivan

Neither She Nor John Barrymore Run True to Romantic Form

By ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD.—Margaret Sullivan takes the crown now as definite queen of romantic unreliability.

And in the men's division, John (Caliban) Barrymore can have the honors.

Miss Sullivan (and this goes for Barrymore) has consistently refused to run true to form as prescribed by Hollywood gossip. When she married her agent, Leland Hayward, in the east the other day she delivered the knock-out blow to those who would have chartered her life—and his—differently.

It's A Habit

It's been a habit of hers. Coming here as the ex-wife of Henry Fonda, she was never supposed to elope to Yuma with William Wyler, her director. But she did. And after the divorce, when she was playing in a picture with Fonda, the gossip insisted these two would make a second attempt. So Fonda married an eastern society girl, and Margaret Sullivan married Leland Hayward, the young agent who (a few months ago) was the reported fiancé if not the secret husband of Katharine Hepburn, if you believed the gossip dealers.

Barrymore won, of course, undisputed title to championship at gossip-thwarting when he suddenly married Elaine Barrie after, to all outward indications, all bets between them were off.

Not since Jean Harlow fle wto Yuma with her cameraman, Hal Rosson, three years ago had Hollywood's romantic handiwork been so wrong. Jenn's was one of those unexpected romances that set Hollywood on its sniping nose, and deserves mention even if it didn't last.

On the local prophets' credit side, however, can be marked the Mary Pickford-Buddy Rogers admission, finally, that they were contemplating matrimony. Nobody around here was surprised, a denial being little more than a formality where romantic rumors are concerned.

More Convention

Sometimes, it is true, movie people issue denials and are truthful in doing

A Visit From St. Nicholas

By Clement Clarke Moore

He was dressed all in fur,
From his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot.

(Continued in Next Issue)

ONLY 12 MORE SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

So, but a star's "You can say for me it isn't so" is as likely to mean through conventional acceptance—that it is so as otherwise. Remember how long Constance Bennett denied she had any other than a friendly interest in her Marquis? And how long Charlie Chaplin and Paulette Goddard have insisted there was nothing to the stories that they were secretly married a year ago? Their denials, when the story popped up again recently, were weaker than before. Hollywood, at least, takes it for granted they are married. And then there was the domestic break-up at Errol Flynn's house. Ru-

SPECIAL
5 Gallons Lube Oil
$1.50
Tol-E-Tex Oil Company

Beware The Cough That Hangs On

From a common cold

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements of Ipecac for remedial use, such as Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results. Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

PHONE 266 WE DELIVER

APPLES, Golden Delicious—Dozen	39c
LEMONS, Nice Size—2 Dozen	35c
CELERY, Nice Stalk—Each	10c
CARROTS, Large Bunch—Each	6c
FLOUR 48 Lb Sack	Each $1.39
SUGAR Brown or Confectionery	3 Lb. 25c
BRIGHT & EARLY COFFEE	Lb. Package 23c

We Have a Complete Line of FRUIT CAKE INGREDIENTS

SAUSAGE	Decker's Tall Korn
BACON	Pound 29c
Pound 10c

BABY BEEF	CHUCK ROAST
	RIB STEAK
	STEAK MEAT
	Pound 12½c

BOLOGNA	OYSTERS
2 Pounds 25c	Fancy Selects 35c
	Pint

BULK MINCE MEAT	SWIFT'S BACON
Brandy Added	FRY PAN
Pound 15c	Pound 35c

Home Owned | HOBBS Gro. & Market | Home Operated

mor has hammered at that fireside almost from the beginning of their marriage last June, when all was serene between the handsome Irishman and his Parisienne bride, Lily Damita. When the break came the other day, temperamental differences were blamed. But their close friends lay some of the blame at the door of rumor.

Builds Own Tomb

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Dr. Robert Andrew Woods, 74-year-old practicing physician, hasn't been sick for 30 years, but he has supervised building of his tomb and arranged for his funeral.

Dr. Woods said he wrote his own epitaph and chose his casket.

His body will be placed in a tomb beside that of his wife who also wrote her epitaph. She died in 1935.

The tomb is an ancient Arabic type patterned after one he saw in Egypt. It had two mummy chambers within an oblong structure with sloping sides. He made a wooden model. The granite monument completed a year ago weighs 17 tons and has bronze railings of Dr. and Mrs. Woods on the sides.

One of his reasons for the building of the tomb now, he explains, is because he has no relatives.

More than 30,000 naval officers and men receive and spend most of their pay at Long Beach, Calif. It is regarded as the "naval capital" of the United States.

Itch Is Raging

In all parts of this section, Kill the ITCH quickly with BROWN'S LOTION. Salves are messy to use. BROWN'S LOTION guaranteed to stop ITCH, 60c and $1.00 at WARD & SON DRUGGISTS

CHRISTMAS TREES

Washington Firs, well shaped . . . fresh and green.

Phone 72 for prices and delivery.

SOUTHERN ICE CO.

Hope Ark.

PIGGY WIGGLY

VARIETY & ECONOMY

LETTUCE Large Head 4½c

CELERY Large Stalk 9c

NAVEL Oranges Large Size	Kroger Quality Bananas Golden Ripe	Fresh Mushrooms Serve with C Q. Steaks
Doz. 29c	Doz. 15c	Pint 19c

APPLES, Big Del 6 for 25c

POTATOES No. 1 Red—10 lbs 29c

COCOANUTS Fresh—Each 5c

CABBAGE Firm Heads—Lb. 4c

SQUASH Pound 10c

ONIONS, Yellow 4 Pounds 10c

CHESTNUTS Fresh—Lb. 19c

YAMS 3 Lb. 10c

Porta Rican

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT

SUGAR PURE CANE 10 Lbs. 46c

GRAPE FRUIT JUICE 2 Cans 15c

FRUIT COCKTAIL Country Club 2 Cans 29c

SHORTENING HUMKO, 100% Vegetable, Carton $1.00

FLOUR AVONDALE 48 Lb. Sack $1.39

Whole or Peeled No. 2½

APRICOTS can 15c

GRAPE JUICE, Quart 29c

All Kind NUTS, Pkg. 19c

PEANUT BUTTER, Quart 25c

FRUIT CAKES 3 lb. Tin $1.35—2 lb. 75c

Salted Crackers box 17c

 Glazed CHERRIES lb. 39c | MUSTARD Quart 10c || Glazed PINEAPPLE lb. 39c | SALT 3 Boxes 10c |
| Shelled PECANS, lb. 49c | Christmas CANDY, Pkg. 10c |

***** IN OUR MARKET *****

PORK CHOPS Nice, Lean Pound 23c

BACON Decker's Tall Korn Pound 28c

HAM Swift's Premium Skinned, Half or Whole Pound 24½c

CENTER SLICES—Pound 39c

OYSTERS SELECTS—Pint 35c

PORK BACK BONES STANDARDS—Pint 29c

BEEF C. Q. BABY BEEF Round, Loin Steak, lb. 25c

Chuck Roast, lb. 11½c

Shoulder Clod Roast, lb. 19c

Hamburger, lb. 12½c

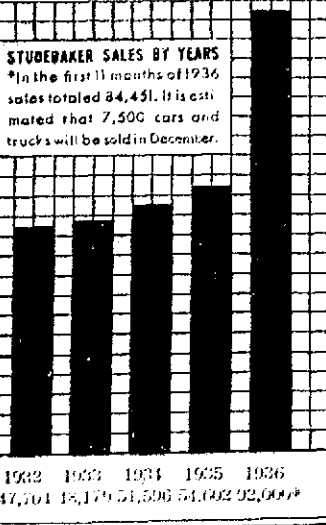

SALT MEAT For Boiling Pound 14½c

VEAL ROAST Rolled Shoulder or Rib Pound 15c

WHY IS STUDEBAKER flashing TO THE FRONT?

$665

WHAT is behind Studebaker's Sensational Clim? Studebaker knew that only one thing could focus on The Dictator and The President the attention and patronage of motorists. That one thing was—and is—better value—more for the money.

Comfort, safety and performance have been characteristic of Studebaker cars. But in this year's models the public has found these two outstanding bonus features: 1. Smart, modern, styling—charming interiors designed by Helen Dryden. 2. Amazing gasoline economy. And all this has been offered at prices so low that smart money has sensed the bargain.

E. L. ARCHER

Third and Walnut

Phone 886

Have us make your apparel immaculate for the Holidays by our Dry Cleaning.

Hall Bros CLEANERS & HATTERS

Laundries-Guard PUBLIC HEALTH

BLANKETS LAUNDERED—NO SHRINKAGE 50c

NELSON-HUCKINS